An Annual Conference presented by the Pennsylvania Council of Churches

Who should attend:

Clergy, lay persons, and anyone interested in learning more about the American criminal justice system and mass incarceration from a religious/moral/ethical perspective.

We'll look at:

- the religious, sociological, and economic foundations that support why the faith community must be involved in criminal justice reform efforts;
- how racism, inconsistent sentencing guidelines for drug offenses and mandatory minimum requirements have placed a disproportionate number of poor persons and persons of color behind bars;
- treatment of incarcerated persons, and how (if at all) they are prepared for reentry into the community;
- alternatives to incarceration;
- barriers for returning citizens, issues for communities as they welcome them, and resources to support them; and what congregations can do on all of these fronts.

Hear from nationally known speakers:

- Glenn E. Martin, Founder and President of JustLeadershipUSA (JLUSA), a national advocacy organization dedicated to cutting the US correctional population in half by 2030.
- Harold Dean Trulear, Ph.D., director of the Healing Communities Prison Ministry and Prisoner Reentry Project of the Philadelphia Leadership Foundation, and Associate Professor of Applied Theology and Director of the Doctor of Ministry Program at Howard University.
